Tentative Questions:

- What common discourses and practices have characterized parapsychology under socialism?
- What were the differences of parapsychology in different socialist countries: in status, development paths, topics and applications?

- Did socialist parapsychology develop in the context of Western parapsychology, or did it go its own way?
- What are the reasons for the current growth of interest in parapsychology among researchers from various disciplines? What are the actual approaches to its conceptualization?
